The New E-Letter

When our marketing manager, Chris Lucasey, came to me and asked, “Can you put together a news letter for Lucasey Manufacturing?” I said, “Sure, no problem.” The task was larger than I expected, in part thinking about how to keep the news letter lively for everyone interested in our company news.

My coworkers came up with a lot of good suggestions including, “Ask our readers to send us stories about Lucasey mount installs, interesting product uses and anything they might like to share with other Lucasey distributors, customers, and installers.” If you have a good story, please send it to me or give me a call.

Another suggestion was to include some pictures of the employees here at Lucasey with a little bit of information for our callers to see who the people are that are on the other end of the phone and for our booth visitors to remember whom they were talking to at a trade show. This request is taking time since a lot of the people here are shy about having their picture taken.

We will have lots of opportunities in future E-letter releases to tell you about new products, new catalogs, new design ideas and information to keep everyone informed about what we are doing here at Lucasey Manufacturing.

The New A/V Product Catalog

Lucasey Manufacturing has published many product catalogs over the years, but this one is the best we've ever done.

Features in the most recent A/V Product Catalog include:

- New application photography
- New products
- New accessories
- New conversion kits

The products all have descriptions, product images, diagrams with technical information, and a list of product features.

The catalog is available for distribution by sending your request by email to: sales@lucasey.com or calling 1-800-LUCASEY. We also have plenty of copies to take to trade shows. The catalog is accessible online at www.lucasey.com as a single file download or as individual pages by clicking on products. We appreciate all forms of feedback and will strive to continuously improve this product catalog and our product offerings.

Coming Soon The New Hospitality Product Catalog

We are working on a hospitality product catalog to show all of the Lucasey products specific for this industry. We have many security related products, CRT-to-LCD conversion products, elegant furniture mounts, and wall mounting solutions for the lodging and hospitality industry. By working closely with the hospitality monitor manufacturers, we continuously update our products to be compatible with the new monitors and product changes.
